

Introducing The Wine Maker Series Collection

Cincinnati – January 3, 2011.

Space efficient, visually appealing, and cost-effective. That is what drove the concept of Wine Cellar Innovations' newest wine rack kit line - the Winemaker Series Collection.

The company introduces its newest wine racking collection today, marking another milestone in wine racks and wine cellar manufacturing. The new Winemaker Series Collection shares all of the same elements as their successful Vintner Series Collection— only now at an even more affordable price point. To make this new line more cost effective, the WineMaker Series wine racks have a reduced depth compared to the Vintner Series.

For additional cost savings the added step of beveling the ends of individual bottle rails was not implemented, as well. The rails that make contact with the wine bottles still have the same round-over finish to ensure that wine labels do not tear as you slide the wine bottle in-and-out of the rack, but the end facing you is squared off, not beveled. New for this series, however, is the introduction of a 15 degree wine bottle display row, available on many of the individual and bulk display racking options. The display rows slant wine bottles in a 15 degree angle, showing off wine labels and making the bottles more prominently visible. Another notable feature of the WineMaker series is its sizeable wine cubicles, allowing you the option to store larger wine bottles.

Space efficiency and versatility make this series perfect for growing a wine collection. By leveraging the ability to stack the wine racks one on top of another, you can maximize the existing space you have available to accommodate all your wine bottles. From the floor up to the ceiling, you can enjoy a variety of wine racking options.

The WineMaker Series, being a modular wine racking system, gives you the ability to mix and match racking styles and displays. The WineMaker Series Collection is available in popular Premium Redwood, with 5 different finish options : unstained, light stain, classic mahogany stain, dark walnut stain, and a midnight black stain. A large variety of base and crown moldings are also available for this series, allowing you to customize the wine rack according to your needs.
