Wrought Iron Doors & Gates

01/05/2006

CINCINNATI—Jan. 10, 2006—Wine cellar doors welcome guests into the prized space of a home's ultimate sanctuary. They establish the cellar's aura, and honor those invited to enter. They help craft a visual experience as rich and rewarding as the wines, themselves. No wonder Wine Cellar Innovations continually expands its collection of door designs and accouterments. This year is no exception.

In 2006, WCI is adding an arched-top, solid-wood door that outlines the arched glass within. Previously, all door tops were square. Also new in 2006 is a solid redwood door featuring a finely detailed grape cluster carved into the door panel's center. Finally, wrought iron grilles and gates in various wine-themed configurations are now also available.

In addition, wine cellar doors also come in French style or with sidelights with numerous decorative options like etched glass and painted inner-glass panes with client or WCI-provided art. All doors can be customized to non-standard door sizes with any etching or painting design the client may desire.

All WCI cellar entry doors are two inches thick and

- feature Clear All-Heart, vertical grain solid redwood with double-pane, etched glass
- come in a variety of wood species
- come with a threshold, door sweep and perimeter seal
- feature R-5 insulation value
- feature two 3/16" thick tempered glass panes with a 3/16" air gap
